PROTECTION OF PEER REVIEW

Ms. Wiens spoke with Judy Taylor, Idaho Board of Nursing who said the Board of Nursing does not have plans to protect peer review for nurses, including Certified Nurse Midwives. The intent is to require peer review as an educational experience that is part of continuous quality. In Washington, Licensed Midwives have a Continuous Quality Improvement Committee that is responsible for reviewing charts to determine if they qualify to be sent to the Washington Midwifery Board for investigative action. In Idaho, peer review is required for educational purposes only. The Board suggested that the Idaho Midwifery Council may want to develop guidelines for peer review. Tony Smith will contact the IMC regarding protection of peer review.
